

MANIFESTO

As a third year architecture student, I am no longer designing to impress but I am designing to understand. Architecture is not a decoration but it is decision making. Every line in my logo exists because it must.

Nothing is random, everything is with purpose. The mark is clear and controlled which is a reflection of disciplined thinking. I want my logo to express hierarchy. Where primary elements represent structure, secondary elements represent support and negative spaces represent opportunity.

I want it to function in different scales and formats without losing identity. It is flexible but recognisable. It is a statement of discipline, growth and intent

FONT

Aa

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

Aa

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
1234567890

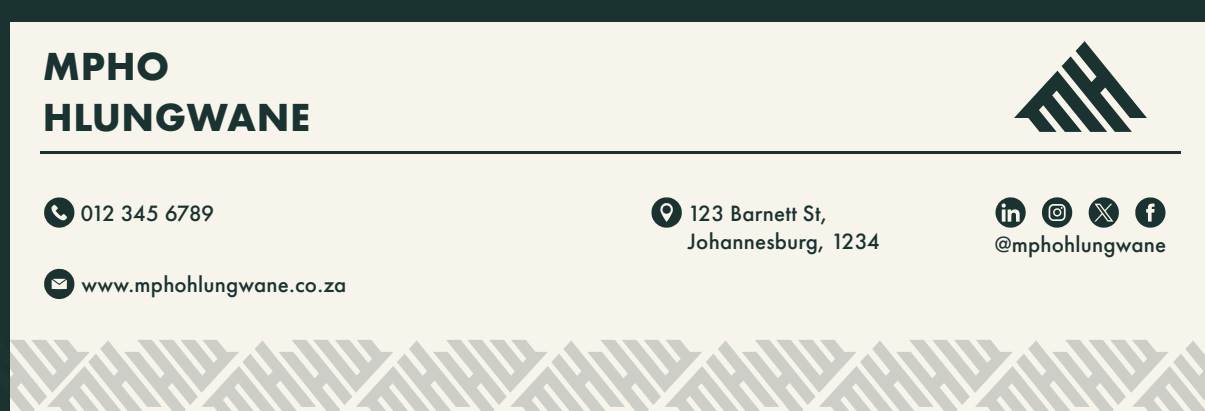

COLOUR PALETTE

1a3330ff

f7f4ebff

000000ff

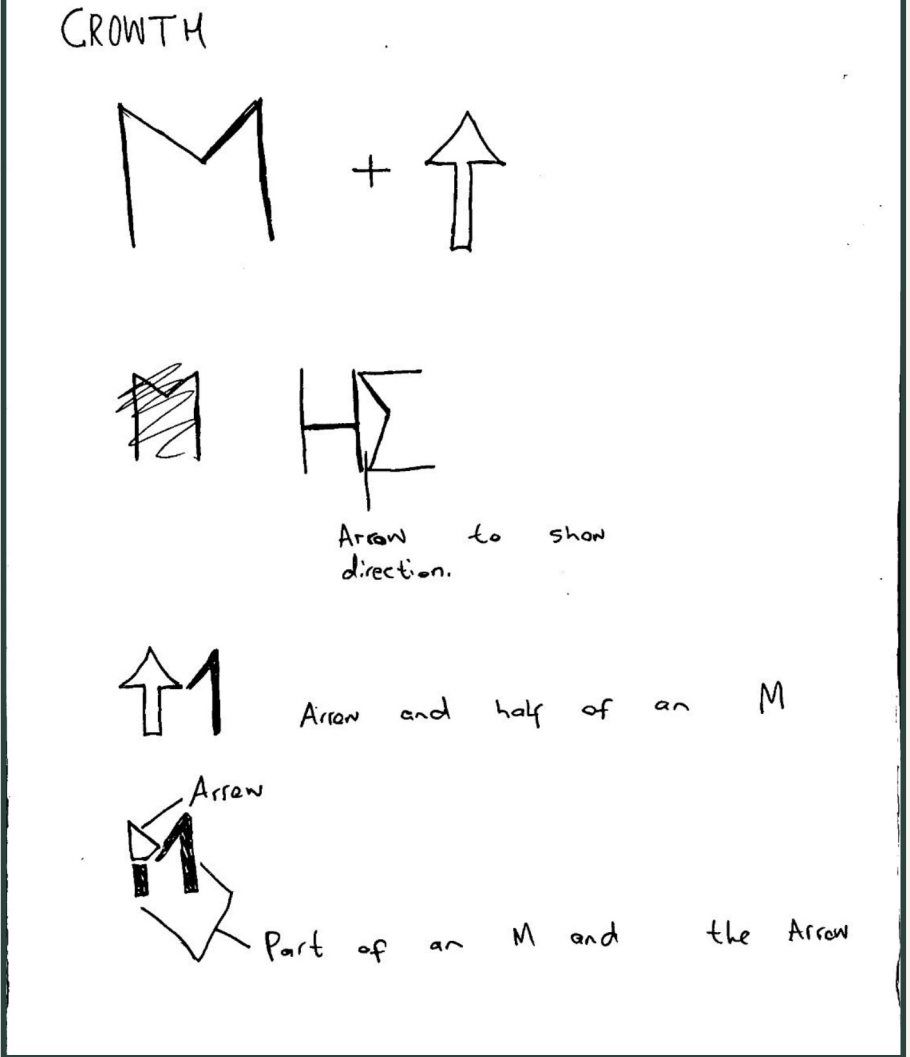

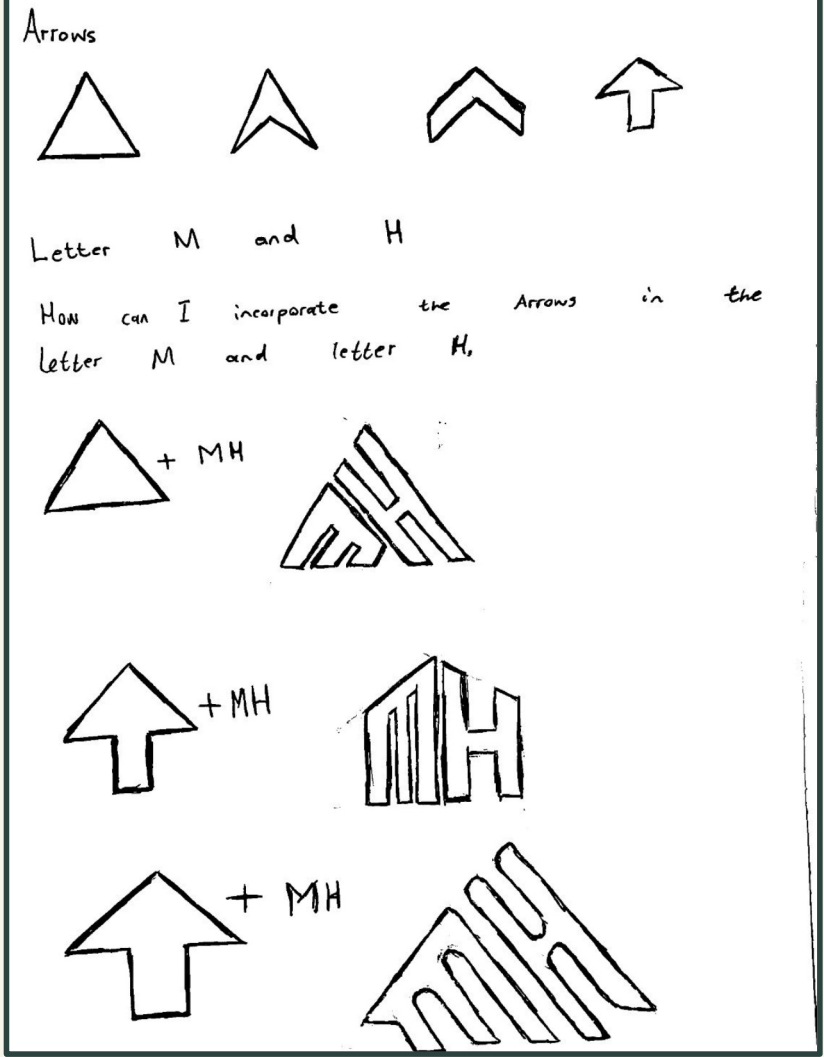

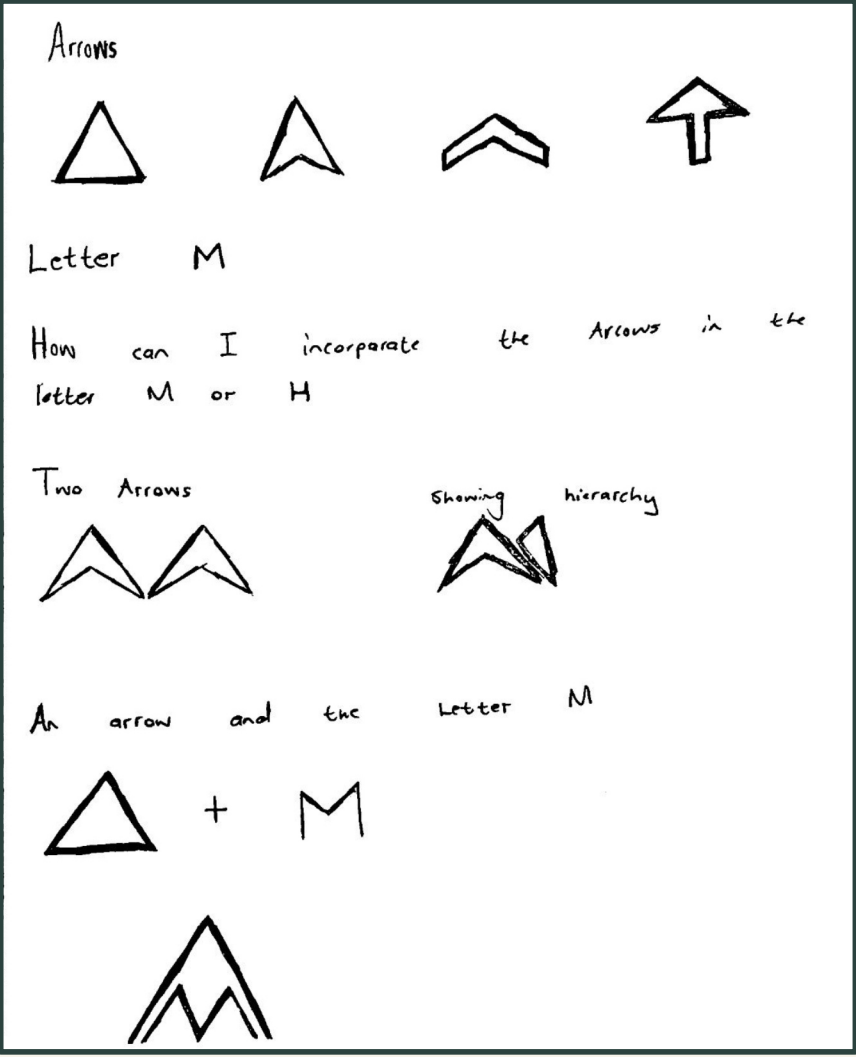

EMAIL SIGNATURE

BUSINESS CARD

CONCEPT ANALYSIS

MANIFESTO

As a third year architecture student, I am no longer designing to impress but I am designing to understand. Architecture is not a decoration but it is decision making. Every line in my logo exists because it must.

Nothing is random, everything is with purpose. The mark is clear and controlled which is a reflection of disciplined thinking. I want my logo to express hierarchy. Where primary elements represent structure, secondary elements represent support and negative spaces represent opportunity.

I want it to function in different scales and formats without losing identity. It is flexible but recognisable. It is a statement of discipline, growth and intent

THREE WORDS

HIERARCHY

GROWTH

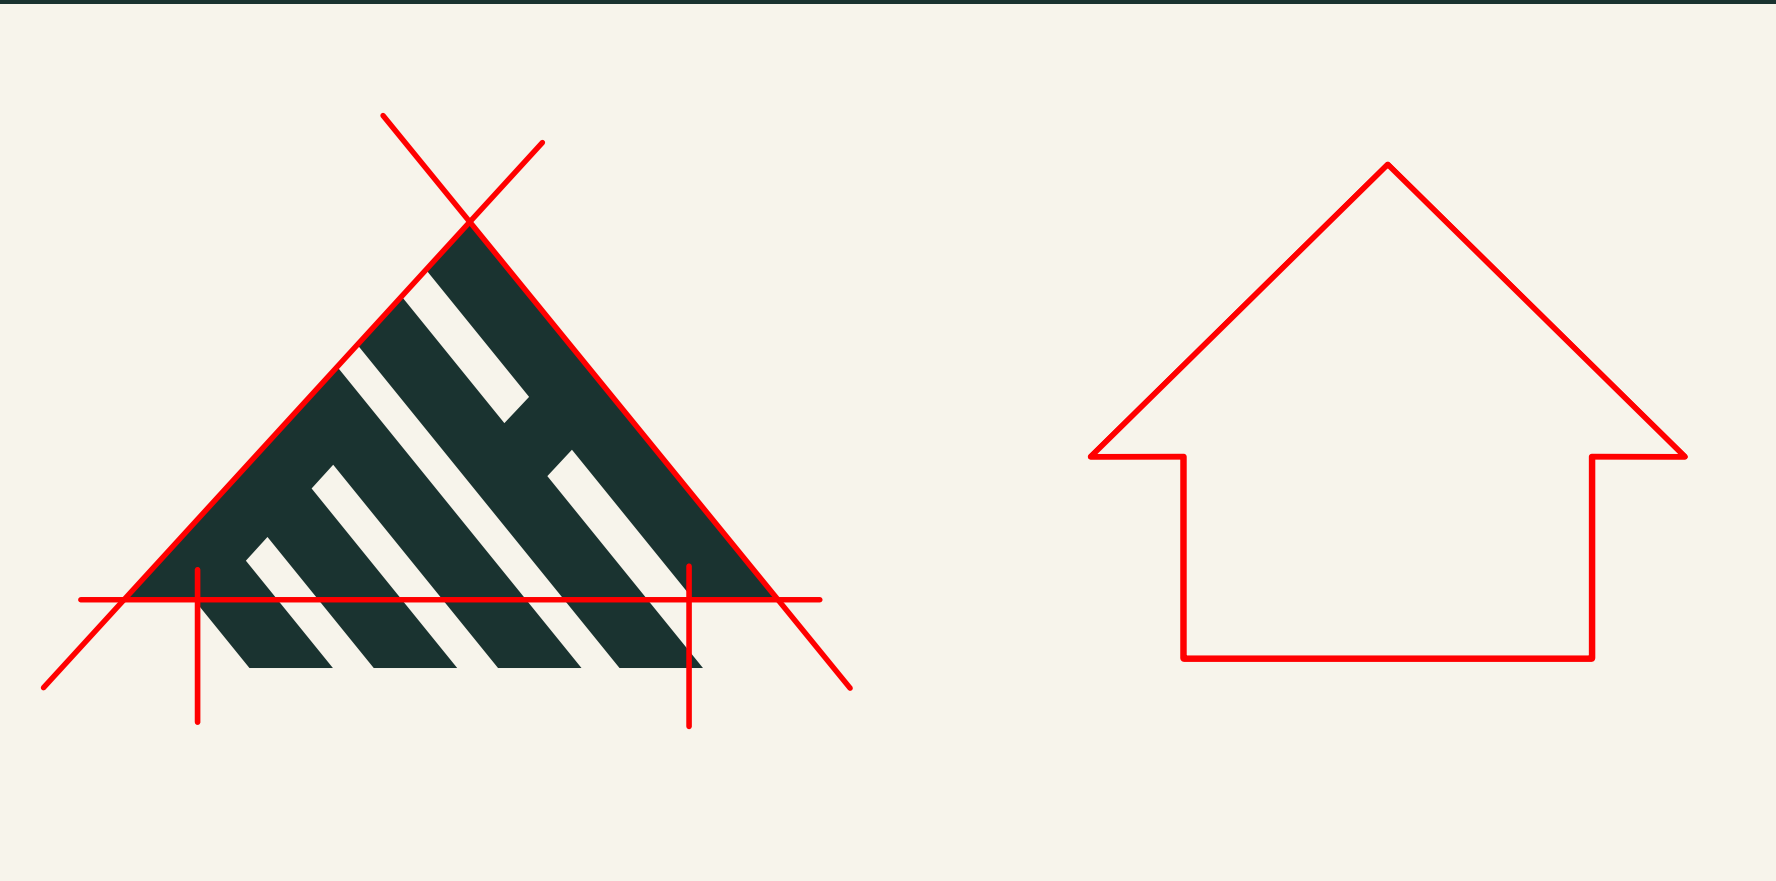

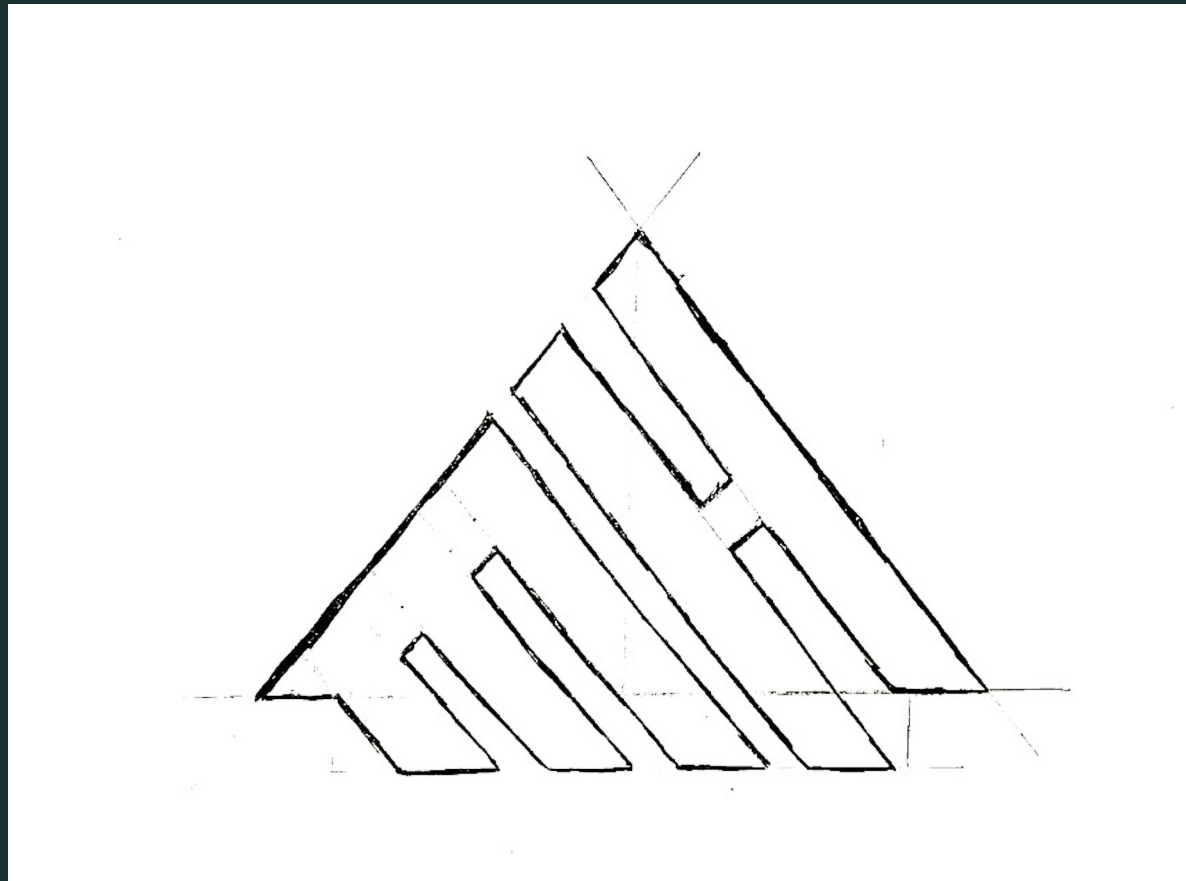

DISCIPLINE

THEME: GROWTH

This theme speaks to how I view architecture today, everyday since I started doing architecture i have learned a lot which i see this as growth. As I mentioned on my manifesto, I design to understand not to impress which is sign of growth.

THE ARROWS

The arrows are the best representation of growth because they show direction.

FONT

Futura font supports the language my logo is speaking which is to keep everything minimal

COLOUR CHOICE

The primary colour green shows growth and stability, while also maintaining minimalism.